The goal of the 1st ASM Conference on Polymicrobial Infections is to explore common themes and identify niches/topics for additional study. The majority of all infections involve multiple agents, yet it is only recently that the impact of polymicrobial infection on disease outcomes has been addressed experimentally. This conference will bring together a diverse group of investigators addressing polymicrobial infections in medical, dental/periodontal, and veterinary fields.

www.asm.org/conferences